LAMPLIGHTER

EX LIBRIS

Mr. Staley

John Staley

Pope Paul VI

Let us be Lamplighters, guided by the example of our Holy Father, and work to restore the bright light of hope to the world.

LAMPLIGHTER

The students of Saint Anne's High School dedicate this record of a memorable year to Mother Patricia Anne, who because of the personal interest she takes in each one of her students will always be remembered as a friend and a true educator. Mother has been a part of Saint Anne's for nine years, and this was her second year as principal. Our school would be much the poorer without her influence. We are happy to be able to show our appreciation to her in this small way.

Special Blessing

from

Bishop Carter

This brief message carries to you my very special blessing and my warmest greetings. We believe that Catholic education has something special to offer to our people and you are the Graduates of a very particular school. The modern trend to immense high schools has diminished the contact between the teacher and pupils. Also the pupils themselves hardly get to know one another.

What a different situation yours has been. You have known what it is to learn from others in the truest sense of the term.

The more experience I obtain in education and in living, the more I am convinced that the theme which continually recurred during the Council is the one which is the most important in our lives. Namely that the most necessary characteristic of our dealings with others is what is termed inter-personal relationships. God Himself chose the way of inter-personal relationships. He could have saved us by a decree revealed by an angel. Instead of that He chose to accept a human form and to make Himself visibly known to us so that we would understand that He loves us each as a person. In the same way, true education is carried out on a personal basis. We learn more from people than we can ever learn from books.

And let this be characteristic also of your own lives. Never sacrifice persons for things. Never be misled by outward appearances or differences of colour or language or even of religion.

Yours was a very personal education. You should be very grateful to Almighty God that He gave you this experience. See now that you put it to good use by always being first of all a "person". And remember always that every other single human being is a person with all that goes with that word.

May God go with you and may you always reflect credit upon your school, upon your homes and upon your Church.

Devotedly in Our Lord,

+ G. Emmett Carter

A Message From Father Lanoue

My dear student friends,

You are to be highly commended for the gigantic effort of compiling your attractive yearbook. Christian education, dear students, has always had the highest rank of interest among the works of Holy Mother Church. Your school exists for you. It is maintained by the sacrifices of your parents and friends, who understand the value of a sound education based on solid Christian principles. The School Board endeavours to make the building as comfortable as possible according to your needs and its means. Profit by the wonderful opportunity given you.

A field-house will soon appear on the grounds. We readily appreciate the necessity of sports. They are a means of keeping the body in the good health without which a school certificate would be of little use. Your teachers - God bless them - have dedicated their lives to the Christian education of youth. Their vocation is a lofty one. In parish work we readily realize the difficulty of maintaining supernatural life in the faithful amid all the vain pleasures and comforts of life. It is even more difficult to blossom forth in the souls of the students the Christian virtues that must shine forth in tomorrow's citizens. Writers say that our present generation of young people ignore, are indifferent to the sacrifices of family, parish, and teaching faculty. Well, dear students, this indifference is unpardonable if one "forgets" ... to forget your benefactors is a practical form of ignorance. But we know that this is not your attitude; far from it.

With the assurance of my humble prayers for your continued success, and respectfully begging the help of yours, dear students,

I remain,

Sincerely,

(Rev.) Chas. E. Lanoue

FACULTY

Principals' Messages

Dear Students,

What is my wish for you as we send another yearbook to the press? Academic success? I know that there are some of you who cannot, even with the best of will and effort, achieve this. A good job? Health? A good husband (or wife)? Perhaps - but I feel that the best I can wish for you is Heaven. Christ asked us to "Seek first the Kingdom of God, and all these things will be added unto you."

So when I wish "heaven" for you, I am expressing a desire that the pupils of St. Anne's will be, now, and after they leave school, the kind of people who deserve heaven - people devoted to charity, to striving for the happiness -and salvation- of others. This Christian, Christ-like charity that we admired so much in Pope John XXIII, personal interest in individual people and their problems, is your passport to heaven.

Sincerely,

M. Patricia Anne

Chers étudiants,

J'espère que l'année 1963 - 64 vous apportera de grand succès dans toutes vos entreprises. A ceux qui quittent Ste-Anne, je dis: Nous vous regretterons. Je ne formule qu'un seul souhait: que votre vie future soit éclairée par les principes qu'on s'est efforcé de vous inculquer et qu'on retrouve, dans votre conduite, les bons effets d'une éducation et d'une instruction solides.

St. Anne's High School

Approximately 110 students are taught in St. Anne's four classrooms and science lab. The school was opened in 1960.

St. Anne's
Intermediate School

Tecumseh's newest school was opened in 1962 to accommodate grades seven to ten.

President's Message

SWEAT AND TOIL, BREWED AND BOILED; SUCCESS AND FAILURE OVERHEATED! By the sweat of our brows, and with a gleam in our eyes, we the students of St. Anne's High School have managed to wave good-bye to the books and classes of this year. We have struggled through three sets of exams, and though results have not always been favourable, we have kept our chins high, and have continued the battle. Tuition to be paid, sacrifices to be made, have not led a student to despair. A most understanding staff who never refused us aid; an eager, ever-lovin' janitor; a devoted, smiling secretary; and a fun-packed, wonderful Mother Patricia Anne have furnished us students with a treasure of pleasant memories that time will never erase.

Editorial

Dear Fellow-students,

The members of the yearbook staff hope you enjoy this year's "Lamplighter"; but we have not worked on it for the sole purpose of producing something to entertain you. In fact, all the effort involved is really worth very little if it is not devoted to loftier aims. Our inspiration was drawn from the hope that our work would have value as a tribute to our wonderful teachers and as a reminder of the high ideals instilled in you during your years at Saint Anne's.

Very special thanks are extended by the students on the yearbook staff to their adviser, Mother Celeste; to our principal, to whom we appealed so often for help; to Mr. J. Marcotte, who took most of the snap-shots, and finally, to the other generous people who contributed a share in the production of the annual.

Sincerely,

Paula Marcotte

Senior Cagers From St. Anne's New Champions

St. Anne's High School of Tecumseh captured the SWOSSA B senior boys' basketball championship Friday by whipping the West Elgin District High School of West Lorne, 66-41, at the St. Anne's gym.

St. Anne's triumphed in the two-game, total-points title series, 112-88, despite a 47-46 loss in the series opener.

Melroy Stephens paced the St. Anne's scoring with 21 points. Fred Jacques followed with 14 and Lawrence LaFlamme clicked for 13.

Bill Wall (11), Paul Laforet (7) and Wilfred Beausoliel (1) rounded out the Tecumseh team's scoring.

Saunders, with 10 points, and Hawksley, with seven, were the high point-getters for West Elgin.
